It is more comfortable and healthful. Made a "big hit" last summer in the mountains, at the ocean and the lakes. It is the ideal summer home. Costs even less to buy than it does to rent other summer cottages, and is good for ten seasons. See it at—

MOISTURE AND HEAT.

Why a Person May Feel Cold in a Room That is Well Heated.

It often happens in winter that a person living in a steam heated apartment feels cold even when the thermometer shows the necessary degree of warmth in the room. Of course there is a reason for this and also a very simple remedy. The reason is that the air in the room is too dry—it does not contain enough moisture—and the remedy is, of course, to keep some water in the room all the time, so that it can evaporate into the air.

Our bodies, you see, are at all times exuding moisture in the form of perspiration. Now, this perspiration, even in winter, amounts to a great deal more than one would think, being measured in the pints. To evaporate water heat has to be used up, and, as the body is warmer than the air, the heat to evaporate this perspiration is taken from the body. Of course then the body feels cold.

Here is still another illustration of this fact: It has been shown by actual experiment that a man can stay in an oven heated to the boiling temperature of water and not get uncomfortably hot—that is, painfully hot. The heat makes him perspire, and the heat taken up by evaporation from the body keeps the body from getting hot. But suppose that the oven already contained in its atmosphere all the water vapor that it could hold. Then, as none could evaporate from the body, the drops on the body would soon get near the boiling point. So in the room referred to above, if it contains a good bit of moisture the evaporation from the body will not be so fast, and consequently the body will not feel cold.—New York American.

PLACID CHINESE WOMEN.

An Illustration of How Well Their Emotions Are Hidden.

"Chinese women are trained to show no emotion, to appear absolutely placid under all circumstances," says Elizabeth Cooper, author of "My Lady of the Chinese Courtyard." "I saw it illustrated at a reception given to the wife of one of the high Chinese officials. All the women of the foreign official colony were at my home, about forty in number, and the great lady was announced. Every one rose. The room was a very long one, about seventy-five feet, and had a very highly polished floor covered with Persian rugs.

"The Chinese lady came to the doorway, with a servant on each side of her to help her walk upon her tiny bound feet. At the entrance they left her, and she started to come to me; but, being almost helpless upon her 'golden lilies,' she stepped upon a rug, which slid upon the polished floor, and instead of swaying like the bamboo in the breeze as she came to me she sat down suddenly and slid to my feet to the consternation and horror of the assembled guests.

"She was raised to her feet, and, although she must have been covered with confusion and embarrassment thus to make her first entrance into a foreign home, she gave her hand to me without a trace of emotion visible in her face or manner, nor did she apologize. One would think by her appearance that it was the usual mode of entrance into a room."

Married the Day They Met.

Horace Greeley and Mary Young Cheney were married the first day they met. They had corresponded for some time, a common friend who was something of a matchmaker having brought this about. She was all his fancy painted her, but she was much disappointed in his appearance, so much so that when he appeared before her, having proposed and been accepted by letter, she frankly told him that, although she married him, she was not in love with him. Their married life was long and happy, and the loss of his wife was a blow which Greeley did not long survive.

An Expensive Lesson.

"Now, Thomas," said the teacher severely, "how many times must I tell you not to snap your fingers? Put your hand down and presently I'll hear from you."

Five minutes later she said, "Now, then, Thomas, what was it you wanted to say?"

"There was a man in the entry awhile ago," said Thomas serenely, "and he went out with your new silk umbrella."

All Her Fault.

"There goes Bertha, the innkeeper's pretty daughter. She's broken many hearts, mine among them."

"Yes; my red nose lies on her conscience too."—Flegende Blatter.

Reasonable Enough.

"What's your objection to the farm, mister?"

"The land appears to be sunken."

"But that's owing to the heavy crops."—Washington Herald.

WILL OPERATE 30 BARGES

Bennington Man Director of New Steamship Company

Albany, N. Y., June 4.—Articles of incorporation of the New York & Buffalo Steamship company, which will operate a fleet of freight boats on the new large canal, were filed today with the secretary of state. H. F. Morse, a son of Charles W. Morse, the New York financier, holds 1,448 shares of the 1,500 shares of stock in the company. The elder Morse and the other eleven directors hold one share each. The capital stock is given at $75,000.

The announced plan of the corporation is to operate thirty steel barges, ten of which are expected to be ready for service this fall.

Besides the Morses the directors and incorporators are: James W. Fleming, George T. Russell, Frank L. Roche, Frank E. Howe and Frank Mc Carthy, Troy; Clifford S. Sims and S. L. Hunsdon, Jr., Albany; C. Wellington Thatcher, Bennington; V. L. Gilbert, Baltimore; and Cyrus Robinson and John W. Hamilton, New York.

NEW PHILIPPINE BILL DRAFTED

Representative Jones Would Make Islands Independent When Fit

Washington, June 3.—Representative Jones of Virginia, chairman of the House Committee on Insular Affairs, was with President Wilson for an hour today and at the end of the conference with the President said he had submitted a copy of a bill for the independence of the Philippine Islands which he has drafted.

He announced that he would introduce the measure in a few days and would strive to have it passed by the House at this session. It is expected, however, that the Administration will make an effort to bring about the passage of a Philippine bill at this session. The President has not read the Jones measure and is not committed to it in any way.

Mr. Jones was the author of a bill introduced in the Taft Administration setting 1921 as the date for the ultimate independence of the islands. He abandoned the idea that a specific time ought to be set for their independence, however, after he had conferred with Mr. Wilson early in the present Administration. It is understood that the measure which he has now drafted would provide for the retention of the islands until such time as there are evidences that a stable government had been established, whereupon the President would be empowered to proclaim their independence.
